Designed to help you optimise your environment, without spending more than you need to, our hosting and connectivity services enable you to boost business agility, deploy faster, and drive down costs. So you can deliver the future with confidence.
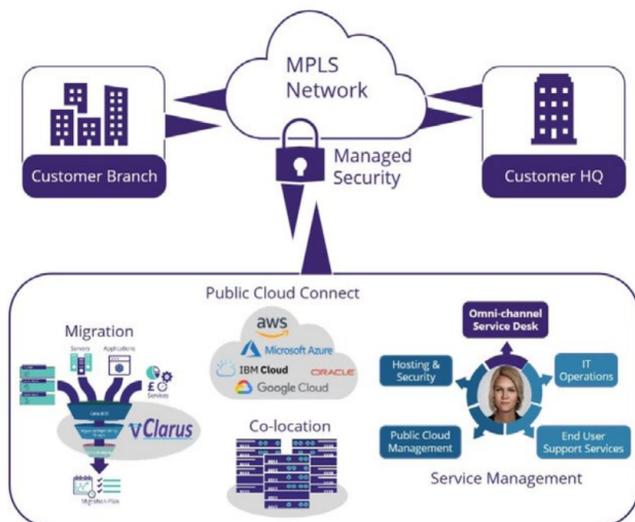

We select the right networking and hosting options for your business, enabling you to meet the demands of today's digital world head-on.

With more workloads moving to the cloud and demand for distributed services on the up, you need to ensure that your organisation's fast-evolving digital ambitions aren't held back by legacy services that could impede the success of your transformation plans.

Cut through the complexity with Bell

Evaluating which services represent a best fit for your needs can be a confusing and time consuming task that can place significant strain on your resources. Plus, dealing with multiple vendors to engineer an efficient and interconnected ecosystem that will provide the essential foundation for your evolving business vision can prove a difficult challenge to navigate.

Providing a one-stop shop that cuts through the complexity, our unbiased expertise simplifies the provision of hosting and connectivity services for your business.

We'll help you source the right product – first time, every time – regardless of whether you need to:

* Connect multiple sites via SD-WAN, cloud or directly to the Internet
* Enable a highly agile hybrid cloud environment
* Identify the best cloud and co-location hosting options for your business
* Support changing work practices for your staff
* Futureproof your infrastructure, ensuring you have the right resources in place, at the right price, to satisfy evolving demands

Why partner with Bell Integration

Accelerating your ability to connect, communicate and collaborate securely, we'll:

Evaluate your existing infrastructure - Aligning your networking and hosting strategy with the current and future needs of the business.

Undertake smart capacity planning - So you get the performance, coverage and access you need, at a predictable monthly cost.

Help you make the right choices - Experts at navigating vendor service catalogues and pricing models, so you don't have to, we'll provide a menu of recommended best options on what to provision and how. Plus, we purchase connectivity and hosting services at wholesale price points, passing those savings on to you.

Simplify procurement - Our single-source solution gives you one place to order, one supplier to manage, and one easy-to-read invoice.

Help you innovate - By supporting you to leverage the latest technologies to stay competitive in today's global marketplace.

Providing secure, resilient and cost-effect connection to people, locations, cloud and data
